Mrs. Stoltenow's Classroom Newsletter

Excitement in Room LL3

As our week draws to an end, we have been getting more excited about our Frog Project. We have spent two days on the computer researching different frogs, and today we started writing our narrative report. Next week we will begin working on our "talking frogs" as they tell our information. We hope to have them up and running on our web page by next Friday.

The SmartBoard has been getting a lot of use in several subjects. We had fun classifying Shurley English sentences with our SmartBoard pens. We have played a few math games and found pictures that help us learn our vocabulary words. Soon we will have the clicker response system up and running.

I will be having your child bring home their frog report for you to look at and help them with some rewriting. It helps so much if you can spend a short time going over their writing with them.

Have a wonderful long weekend.
